

I have my name & phone number on Indiana's no call list. I do NOT wish the FCC to implement any proposal that would lessen the effectiveness of Indiana's law. I used to get at least one tele-marketing call a day & that has dropped to zero. I get to spend more time with my family, without having to worry about an unnecessary phone call interrupting our time. I spend most of my working day on the phone & the last thing I want to do at night is tell telemarketers 'NO' or 'I'm not interested' repeatedly.
